

NORCROSS SAYS A LITTLE SAY

Janesville Man Makes Spirited Attack Upon
The Anti-Secret Lobbying Bill.

W. J. BRYAN'S VISIT WAS DEPLORED

Rock County Assemblyman Holds His Own Against The Whole Of The Assembly In The Debate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 24.—Captain Pliny Norcross made a spirited attack on the anti-secret lobbying bill in the assembly this morning, declaring that it was one of those ridiculous measures born in unreasoning pates of agitators and fanatical reformers.

Strongly Criticized
He strongly criticized those who brought W. J. Bryan (the arch demagogue) before the legislature to have him lobby in favor of the La Follette railroad bills.

Is Rebuked
Assemblymen Crowley and Cleary remonstrated against the strong language of the Janesville member and claimed that they had been against the bill but would vote in favor of it as a special rebuke to Norcross. The bill was advanced.

Committee on Claims
The joint committee on claims today reported all the normal school bills in favor of passage, calling for appropriations aggregating $382,000, being divided as follows: La Crosse site, $30,000; Milwaukee site and buildings, $240,000; Platteville building, $115,000; Whitewater heating, $7,000. This assures the passage of the bills without further hitch.

In the Senate
The senate killed by non-concurrence the Mozler bill to provide for the redemption of capital stock of life insurance companies being the mutualization bill. The senate advanced the bill to increase the term of office of the labor commissioner from two to six years, by a vote of 16 to 12.

Assembly Committee
Assembly committee on agriculture reported for the passage of a bill to regulate the corn-shredders and require safety appliances. The H. Johnson bill, requiring lobbyists to work in the open and not confining them to committees, was ordered to engrossment.

To Return Flags
The senate adopted a joint resolution for returning to Alabama the flags carried by soldiers of that state in the Civil war and captured by Wisconsin troops. Senator Wright voted in opposition.

Chicago Grand Jury Does Not Let Hints of the Doings Become Public.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Chicago, March 24.—Michael R. Murphy, manager of the Cudahy Packing Co. at Omaha, was the principal witness this morning before the federal grand jury which is investigating the alleged beef trust. The managers of several other packing concerns are scheduled to appear before the jury today. It is understood the jury is questioning the witnesses regarding the prices of dressed meat at the retail and wholesale period covering the past three years. Every precaution is being taken to prevent any information reaching the public as to the progress of the case.

Threat of the Coal Operators in Illinois if Certain Bill Passes.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Springfield, Ill., March 24.—In the current issue of the "Black Diamond," the official organ of the coal operators, it says that if the Shot Fires bill now being pushed in the legislature by the United Mine Workers' union, becomes a law, all mining will cease in Illinois. The paper says President Garrison of the operators' association has been authorized to abrogate the present wage contract in case the bill passes.

A New York Cemetery.—Had Accumulated Wealth.

New York, March 24.—Jonathan Reed, who has been known for many years as "the hermit of Evergreen cemetery," because of his daily visits to the tomb of his wife, who died more than seven years ago, was stricken with apoplexy in her tomb Thursday and removed in a critical condition to the Kings County hospital.

Reed is more than 70 years old and for many years has lived in the eastern district of Brooklyn. He accumulated a fortune in business, and just as he retired to enjoy life his wife died.

The body was placed in a receiving vault until Reed built a costly tomb. Then he had it furnished inside with many fancy articles, to which his wife had been attached in life.

Faithful to Dead Wife.
Reed became a daily visitor to the tomb. He told curious ones who questioned him that his wife was as dear to him in death as she had been in life, and that it was his duty to be near her all the time. The notoriety which resulted caused the cemetery officials to object to his long visits.

The Veteran French Author, Died in Amiens This Morning.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Amiens, March 24.—Jules Verne, the author, has fallen into a state of coma and death is only a question of a few hours. Among Verne's most noted writings are "Around the World in Eighty Days," "A Trip to the Moon," and "The Mysterious Island." Many of his imaginary stories are now facts.

A latter report states that Jules Verne died today.

WERE VISITED BY STATE INSPECTOR

Annual Inspection of Janesville Commandery, Knights Templar—Banquet Held.

J. E. Durgin of Racine, inspector general for Wisconsin of the Knights Templar order, made his annual visit to the Janesville commandery, number 2, last evening. About half a dozen knights from Beloit and an equal number from Madison were present and the Knights Templar order was conferred on Arthur Hoard of Port Atkinson, son of ex-Governor Hoard of Wisconsin, by the Janesville lodge. The evening's program was closed by a banquet. About forty in all were present at the ceremonies and repast.

Grain Deteriorates in Milling.
All grain deteriorates gradually after milling; a medical expert says that at least 50 per cent of all milled products offered to the consumer in the ordinary state is unfit for food. In Mexico this is thoroughly understood, and the corn is ground in each household as it may be needed for immediate use.

LEGISLATURE HAS MANY BILLS UP

No Decrease in Important Legislation That Must Be Considered Soon.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 24.—If the legislature works for month as industriously as it did the past week it will have a large number of bills to consider. The progress made during the week is surprising. Each morning the reports of committees were so extensive and voluminous, reporting bills for passage, amendment, substitution and killing, that the senators and assemblymen complained of the monotony. Senator Whitehead brought the matter before the upper branch and caused a motion to be passed that the reports of the committees be dispensed with, thus saving valuable time. The custom of printing the calendar for the following day at noon of the day preceding has made it possible for senators to know in the afternoon what bills are on the calendar for advancement, passage or killing at the session of the following morning. The calendars this week were the longest of the present session, particularly in the senate, where the bills before committees are being rapidly cleared up. There are comparatively few bills remaining that have not been considered in committee at all. Many have been reported one way or another, some have been finally disposed of and a number carrying appropriations have gone to the committee on claims according to the usual custom. Subcommittees are at work on a large number of measures drafting substitutes. To this number belong the bills that are deemed to have merit and to contain some idea worth of being carried out in legislative enactment, but the original bills are poorly or erroneously drawn and the old bill can be used for little more than a suggestion to the subcommittee in charge of drawing the substitute.

WOMEN DESERT HARBIN TODAY

Kurki Thought To Be Heading Towards Vladivostok With His Army Now.

BUSINESS HOUSES CLOSING SHOPS

Linevitch Must Make Stand Now Or Lose All Hope Of Ever
Regaining A Hold On Manchuria
Again.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Guntzing, Manchuria, March 24.—Russian officers connected with the headquarters staff are now convinced that General Kurki is moving northwestward with the intention of investing Vladivostok. It is reported all the women and children are leaving Harbin, where the business houses are closing.

The strategic weakness of Gen. Linevitch's position as he falls back northward is made clear by a Gunshu dispatch in which it is pointed out that unless Chunchiatu and the Sungari lines, a scant 100 miles below Harbin, can be held it will be difficult to maintain a position farther back before Harbin, where, with the front of the army paralleling the railroad, the practicability of a Japanese turning movement to completely sever communications and isolate the army 6,000 miles from home is too serious for Russian consideration.

Vladivostok Only Hope.
In view of this possibility the dispatch alluded to suggests the advisability of immediately providing Vladivostok with war munitions and supplies for a two years' siege. The correspondent estimates the number of reinforcements needed to give Linevitch the requisite superiority in force at 200,000.

That such a dispatch should have been permitted to pass the censor at the front is significant, and if Gen. Linevitch has communicated a similar estimate of the situation direct to Emperor Nicholas it may account for his majesty's increased disposition to listen to peace counsels and open negotiations before the Japanese establish themselves on Russian soil.

With Manchuria entirely abandoned to the Japanese and Vladivostok left as Russia's solitary sentinel on the Pacific, it is realized that Russia will be practically at Japan's mercy in the matter of peace terms.

Military Opinion.
Military authorities here believe that unless Gen. Linevitch is sure of his ability to hold the lower Sungari line, he will risk his whole army if he fights and concentrates there, as if he should be defeated, his line of retreat lies to two sides of a triangle, the third side of which is open to the enemy's advance.

At the general staff view that Gen. Linevitch may be controlled, so abandon Harbin and retire towards Lake Balkal, leaving Vladivostok to its fate, is regarded as almost unwarranted by anything that is officially known there, it being pointed out that Field Marshal Oyama will have a long and laborious task to bring up an army of 300,000 or 400,000 men.

Meanwhile Russian reinforcements are arriving at Harbin at the rate of 1,200 men per day. Nevertheless it is significant that there is now a well marked peace party at the war office.

Soldiers Slay Peasants.
Warsaw, March 24.—Ten unarmed peasants were killed and fifty wounded at Lamenta, in the Kutno district, seventy miles west of Warsaw, in a clash with Russian soldiers. Eleven of the wounded will die.

The peasants a week ago were ordered to supply horses for the army under the mobilization plans. The order angered them and they refused to comply. On Tuesday 150 of them gathered in the highway near Lamenta, apparently discussing resistance to the enforcement of the order, when the chief of police of Kutno and a company of infantry arrived and ordered them to disperse. The peasants do not understand Russian and consequently did not move. Thereupon the commander directed the soldiers to fire. The crowd, seeing the soldiers raise their rifles, scattered and ran.

Three volleys followed and fifty peasants fell, two dead. The commander refused to allow the wounded to be taken to their homes, but insisted that they be taken in carts to Kutno, a six hours' journey. They received no attention and eight men and one woman died before Kutno was reached.

London, March 24.—The Russian fleet under Rojestvenski may be 500 miles south of Ceylon on its way east.

A steamer which arrived at Port Louis, island of Mauritius, reports that on its way from Colombo it passed a Russian torpedo boat, which was followed by a fleet, the nationality of which could not be made out. The position where the fleet was sighted was not stated. It was inferred that it was the Russian Baltic fleet on its way east.

MANY ATHLETES ARE ON THE TEAM

Janesville Is Represented by Young
Myers in the Contest with Michigan.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 24.—To-night a dozen University of Wisconsin athletes leave Madison for Ann Arbor to meet the university team in the first indoor track athletic meet ever held between those two universities. Wisconsin has small hopes to win and the manager and trainer are only expecting to maintain a decent second place. Wisconsin men are in the best physical condition, with the exception of Captain Breitkreutz, who has withdrawn from competition on indoor tracks, because of trouble with his ears. Michigan will have practically the same team as defeated the First regiment of Chicago so decisively in the meet a week ago. Waller is the only individual upon which Wisconsin confidently depends to take a first place, and he may win in the quarter-mile and in the short dash. The Badgers also think they will carry off the points in the relay race with a team composed of Waller, Hasbrouck, Stevens, Shoepheuster, and Rideout. Only 12 men are taken to Ann Arbor partly because of the determination of Graduate Manager Downer to keep down expenses and partly because there are no more athletes at Madison who have any chance whatever of taking points in the meet against the Wolverines.

Residents of Fond du Lac are apprehensive of another flood, and many cellars are already inundated by the water backing up in the sewers. The rivers are running almost bank full, thus preventing the sewers from discharging their contents.

CASTRO STANDS ON DIGNITY; REBUKES UNITED STATES

Cabinet Meeting This Morning To Discuss The Situation.—May Blockade—Text of Communication Not Made Public.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPPS-M'RAE.]
Washington, March 24.—Word was received at the state department that President Castro formally refuses to arbitrate the questions at issue between the United States and Venezuela.

In Castro's note to Bowen he peremptorily declines to permit any questions at issue to be arbitrated. The text of the communication has not been made public, but at the state department it is announced the tone of the note is practically insulting. Secretary of War Taft, who is temporarily in charge of the state department matters, presented the information to President Roosevelt and the cabinet at this morning's meeting.

The dispatch from Minister Bowen was thoroughly discussed at the cabinet meeting and it was admitted that Castro's reply has brought a crisis in the situation. Bowen does not say that he has been dismissed from Venezuela but his relations are so strained that it is almost beyond question he will be recalled. Just what the next step will be is a question, but undoubtedly vessels of the navy will be later sent to the Venezuelan coast to safeguard American interests and possibly to establish a blockade.

SIX STATES SEEK A UNIFORM LAW

WORK FOR PROTECTION OF THE FISH AND GAME.

A CONFERENCE IN CHICAGO

Representatives of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota to Meet.

The legislatures of six states are uniting to secure uniform legislation for the protection of fish and game. Early in April, possibly April 3, there will be held in Chicago an interstate conference of members of the legislatures and each delegation will tell what is desired in its state in the way of fish and game protective legislation. It is hoped that an agreement will be reached and the delegations return to their respective legislatures and secure enactment of the composite bill prepared in the conference.

The states to be represented are Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Minnesota. These states have much in common with respect to their hunting and fishing and it is found that much would be gained if they maintained more uniform laws in this regard. One of the most important matters to be handled in the conference is that of fishing in Lake Michigan. Five of these states, all save Iowa, border on either Lake Michigan or Lake Superior, and it is believed desirable to have the same open season for deer in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota and also to make more extensive and definite arrangements for the transportation of game killed in the open season. The getting of the deer home has been a serious problem with the hunters, as the state laws prevented the transportation of a deer from one state into or through another. Some arrangements in this regard have been made at various times between the wardens of the states, but it is preferred that a statute be provided. Senator Herman Wipperfurth, Assemblyman Jonas Swenholm and Assemblyman Edward A. Everett are to be foremost in representing Wisconsin, but other members also may be present.

MRS. COURTLAND LACKNER PASSED AWAY SUDDENLY

Milton Junction Lady and Pioneer of Rock County Died After an Hour's Illness.

Mrs. Courtland Lackner died suddenly at her home in Milton Junction after less than an hour's illness. Deceased was a daughter of David Kelley, formerly of Milton, and was born in New York sixty-five years ago, coming to Rock county while a child. A husband and one sister, Mrs. John Casson of Ford River, Mich., survive. The funeral was held from the Methodist church in Milton Junction Wednesday afternoon, Rev. North officiating. Interment was made in the Fasset cemetery at Edgerton.

A GOOD DEAL OF NONSENSE.

About "Blood Purifiers" and "Tonics" Every drop of blood, every bone, nerve and tissue in the body can be renewed in but one way, and that is, from wholesome food properly digested. There is no other way and the idea that a medicine in itself can purify the blood or supply new tissues and strong nerves is ridiculous, and on a par with the fol-de-rol that dyspepsia or indigestion is a germ disease, or that other fallacy, that a weak stomach which refuses to digest food can be made to do so by irritating and inflaming the bowels by pills and cathartics.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure indigestion, sour stomach, gas and bloating after meals, because they furnish the digestive principles which weak stomachs lack, and, unless the deficiency of pepsin and diastase is supplied, it is useless to attempt to cure stomach trouble by the use of "tonics," "pills" and "cathartics" which have absolutely no digestive power, and their only effect is to give a temporary stimulation.

One grain of the active principle in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest 3,000 grains of meat, eggs and similar foods, and experiments have shown that they will do this in a glass bottle at proper temperature, but of course are much more effective in the stomach.

There is probably no remedy so universally used as Stuart's Tablets, because it is not only the sick and ailing, but well people who use them at every meal to insure perfect digestion and assimilation of food.

People who enjoy fair health take Stuart's Tablets as regularly as they take their meals, because they want to keep well, prevention is better than cure, and Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets do both; they prevent indigestion and they remove it where it exists. The regular use of one or two of them after meals will demonstrate their merit and efficiency better than any other argument.

OUTLAW DIETZ IS STILL MASTER OF THORNAPPLE DAM

But He Fears a Sudden Attempt by Chippewa Lumber Co. to Rush Its Stranded Drive.

John F. Dietz, the autocrat of Thornapple dam near Hayward Sawyer county, whose exploits have been of especial interest to Janesville people since Frank M. McNamara became prosecuting attorney of that district, fears that the Chippewa Lumber and Boom company is planning to rush its stranded drive of logs through this spring by main force and is keeping a sharp lookout. Once this drive of logs is through Thornapple dam the Chippewa company will have gained its point, as this is its last drive in that vicinity. Furthermore Dietz would probably be unable to get any satisfaction out of the company, as it is said he has forfeited whatever legal rights he may have possessed by failure to appear in court. He believes the company will put a large force of men into his meadow some day this spring while he is away and start the drive. William Dietz of Superior, a brother of the man who is technically held to be an outlaw, presents some new statements in the case. He again makes the oft-repeated assertion that his brother is a harmless and much abused and misrepresented man. The facts, as he gives them are:

Had Land Coming. John Dietz moved to the Chippewa Lumber and Boom company's camp in 1901, making a deal with Secretary Chichester to watch the camp and Price's dam on the Brunette river for $1 a day and supplies, payment to be made in land. Later Dietz attempted to secure a deed on the land promised him. He found that William Irvine was secretary of the company and was ignorant of the arrangement. Irvine is said to have agreed to allow the bill provided Camp Foreman Mulligan would O. K. it. Dietz saw Mulligan. It is asserted the foreman became abusive and was given a sound thrashing.

Dietz moved to his wife's property and found, he claims, in making a survey, that Thornapple dam was located on it. The Chippewa company claims ownership on a delinquent tax title to a "forty," formerly owned by Mrs. Cameron, widow of a lumberman. Dietz had previously entered into negotiation with her to redeem the tax title and purchase the "forty." It was found that it would necessitate tedious litigation, and then Dietz says he discovered the dam on his wife's property.

Held Up Logs. He refused to allow the Chippewa company's log drive last spring on the ground that the county owed him 10 cents on every thousand of $2,000, logs previously sluiced. The company offered him $500 in settlement of this claim and the other claim for wages as watchman and caretaker of the camp at Price's dam. Dietz refused this offer, and then it is said the company got Mulligan to swear out a warrant for assault and battery. Dietz was never arrested on this charge it being claimed that all the evidence was in his favor. Next a deputy sheriff came upon the scene and paid a son of Dietz $2.50 to open the dam while his father was away. Judge Parish then issued an injunction against Dietz operating the dam.

Chatter With Sheriff. Sheriff Peterson, who served six months in the Hayward jail and was deposed for failing to arrest Dietz, is said to have informed Dietz that there was a legal order for him at the bottom of a pile of mail he had left on his table. "You can keep it," replied Dietz. Then the two men chatted pleasantly for a time and the sheriff went away.

Judge Parish issued a bench warrant for Dietz, ordering him to be brought into court on May 9. On May 10 a posse left Hayward under a special deputy, the sheriff and undersheriff taking no part. This posse, it is claimed, never saw Dietz and while under the influence of liquor cut loopholes in the sides of one of the Chippewa company's log camps. Dietz denies that he saw the posse and says he knows nothing of the wounding of Deputy Tracy. The posse returned and circulated sensational stories of a conflict with the alleged desperado.

WILLIARD EVERETT NOW WITH BUTTEN

Popular and Successful Expert Form New Alliance with Eastern Advertising Agency.

Willard Everett has formed a connection with the firm of George Butten Co., Advertising Agents, 28 Park row, New York. This alliance means much to newspapers and advertisers—to advertisers, as it strengthens the hands of a firm already strong and well established—that has grown steadily and strongly from a very modest beginning in 1891 to a position in the very first rank of advertising firms, and especially in the high character of the business conducted, as well as for business methods and straightforward dealings.

The growth of their business is the best proof of their ability, as the majority of the large advertising accounts handled, grew from small appropriations, and grew as the advertising proved profitable.

One of the best known newspaper managers said of Mr. Everett in a recent interview: "There is no man in the United States that knows the daily newspapers better than Willard Everett—or knows what he wants and how to get it—can make a closer deal, and yet who is more popular with publishers and their representatives, because, close, shrewd as he is, he plays a fair game and is always ready to give the other fellows a square deal."

In this opinion newspaper men will universally agree.

Mr. Everett has had a training and experience that makes him especially valuable to the customers of his firm—trained in the office of the Boston Herald, and for years manager of its advertising department. Some of the most successful advertisers owe their start in the right direction very largely to his timely suggestions.

His success with the advertising campaigns conducted by him are too well known to need mention here.

CULLEN BROS. MAY GET BIG CONTRACT

Notified That Their Bid of $115,000 for New Postoffice at Hammond Is the Lowest.

Notification from the United States government that their bid of $115,000 for the construction of a new postoffice building at Hammond, Indiana, was the lowest submitted, has been received by Cullen Bros. of this city. But official notice of acceptance is still forthcoming, though it is confidently expected every day. The building is to be constructed of Bedford stone and will be one of the finest in the state. The firm expects to complete the new $75,000 Carnegie library at Council Bluffs, Ia., in April.

ADVOCATES OF LICENSE MAY SUCCEED IN MILTON JUNCTION THIS SPRING

Question Will Be Voted On—Without Milton Votes, Liquor Men Are Stronger.

At the spring election this year the question of license or no license will again be voted on in Milton Junction. This has been brought up for the past two years and each time killed but this year with Milton withdrawn from the town government the advocates of saloons feel more confident of success and are putting forth great efforts to secure license. The no-license men are equally active and working hard to defeat the saloon movement.

MISS JENNIE ALLEN AND DAVID ARNOLD MARRIED

Young People From Milton Junction Wedded by Rev. Denison Wednesday Morning.

Wednesday morning Rev. Denison presided at the wedding of Miss Jennie Allen of Milton Junction and David Arnold, who resides west of that place. After the ceremony the wedding party went to the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Allen in Milton Junction where an elaborate repast was served. Mrs. Arnold is a very popular young lady in social circles and the groom a prosperous and well known young farmer. They will make their residence on the John Lormer farm west of Milton Junction and their many friends wish them success and happiness.

J. W. NASH IS REPORTED TO BE FAILING RAPIDLY

Prominent Citizen Has Been Ill for Many Weeks and Condition Has Now Become Critical.

J. W. Nash, who has been seriously ill for several weeks past is reported to be failing rapidly. His condition became very critical only a few days ago and a trained nurse is constantly at his bedside. Mr. Nash is one of Janesville's most highly respected residents and until recent years was very active in the business life of the city. His many friends will regret to hear the unfavorable reports that come from his home.

SEEKS AID FROM MANY SOURCES

NORTHWESTERN ROAD ANXIOUS TO LEARN OF JANESVILLE.

WANTS SPECIAL DATA NOW

Looks to Developing All Territory Touched by The Northwestern System.

Janesville is to be placed on the map, Marvin Hight, Jr., of the North-Western system has sent a letter to Agent Lindsay asking that he secure data and work in co-operation with the Janesville Business Men's association regarding the bringing of factories and other industries to this city. His general letter to the agents of the road is as follows:

Wants Facts We desire to secure for reference in this department and for final possible publication in booklet form, a concise collection of reliable facts concerning the industrial possibilities of your locality, which, when properly presented, may be used in exhibiting such advantages to manufacturers looking for new locations.

Steady Growth With the growth of the west as a manufacturing center, the number of such inquiries is on the increase, and the advantage of proper information in our hands grows in importance. The information sought should be exact, and should bear the stamp of authority. It would therefore suggest that you communicate with your local business men's league, improvement association, chamber of commerce and other public bodies, with a view to eliciting their assistance in preparing same.

Every Feature Every feature of civic activity enters into and has a direct bearing upon a satisfactory presentation of your advantages to prospective investors, and you are urged to provide us, so far as you are able to do so, facts as to your facilities for supplying raw materials, cheap fuel and reliable waterpower, together with a statement as to labor conditions and market possibilities, and, in case your public bodies offer special inducements for free factory sites, give detailed information on that subject.

The Population The population of the town should be stated, and the public conveniences mentioned, including the number of banks, stores and factories of various kinds. If there is a local organization qualified to enter into negotiations with concerns seeking location for their plant, give the name of the secretary, and supply us with copies of all literature issued by them.

The Material It is probable that in many instances, information of the kind we seek has been made the subject of various descriptive newspaper articles, or of pamphlets issued by your local organizations. We should like to secure copies of all such with an authoritative statement at the hands of your local organizations of manufacturers and business men, that such information can be accepted as a basis for publication by the Chicago & North-Western railway.

You will please use every endeavor to procure the desired particulars and communicate fully with the men forming your business community. Please also supplement all material with any suggestions you think advisable.

It is hoped that you will be able to secure an early and ample response to this, and to interest your business men and the press in co-operating with us closely.

AMATEUR NIGHT AT WEST SIDE THEATRE THIS EVENING

This Evening the Local Talent Will Have an Opportunity to Show Off.

This is amateur night at the West Side theatre and in addition to the regular performance there will be a goodly number of amateurs who will appear on the boards. This feature is both amusing and interesting and its weekly happening adds to the popularity of the new house.

LARGE SEAT SALE FOR "HOITY TOITY" OPENED THIS MORNING

Indications Point to an Excellent Attraction Tomorrow Evening.

Manager Myers opened the seat sale for "Hoity Toity" this morning at nine o'clock. He reports that the present indications are for a good house for both afternoon and evening tomorrow. An innovation as regards the matinee in the shape of the seats down stairs being reserved at fifty cents and the rest of the house at a quarter for the matinee has been made. This company is the New York production of the show that made Weber and Field famous.

CONCORDIA SOCIETY MAY GO TO FREEDROP ON THE FOURTH

Invitation to Attend the Big Song Festival Received by Local Organization.

It is quite likely that the Concordia Singing society of this city will join with the Freedrop songband in the celebration of its 50th anniversary on July 3 and 4. Invitations having been forwarded to the local society and all the "bums" in the northwest, some fifty in number, Beck's orchestra, and military band of Milwaukee will furnish the accompaniment for a chorus of from 200 to 300 voices. Gov. Denen is expected to be present on the grand patriotic celebration on the second day.

Performance of "Parsifal" at Milwaukee, March 27 to April 1st.

On account of the above performance at Milwaukee for the week of March 27th, the Chicago & North-Western Ry. will sell excursion tickets to Milwaukee for a fare and a third for the round trip. Tickets on sale March 27 and 28, good returning up to and including March 29th. For train service, etc., see ticket agent, C. & N. W., or Tel. 35.

News for the Railroad Men.

Northwestern Road Engineer Joe Shukey went to Chicago yesterday on business.

Conductor Wittwer is relieving conductor Keeler on the Chicago way freight.

Fireman H. P. Merrill has returned from Harvard where he has been working the past week.

Engineer J. O. Selleck is laying off the Fond du Lac passenger.

Engineer A. L. Wilcox is relieving engineer J. O. Selleck on the Fond du Lac passenger run.

A. A. Krossin of Watertown has been added to the list of firemen at the Janesville round house.

Floyd Dunwiddie is off duty on account of an accident which happened the other day. He was working in the shops and a chip of steel flew into his eye entering the ball and he was forced to cease work.

Water Gregory has resigned his place as night call boy at the round house.

Andrew Peters, formerly night laborer at the round house, ceased work a week ago and has gone farming.

All trains from Watertown since last evening were delayed on account of a threatened washout, the rain together with the melting snow having become higher than the tracks on a culvert there, and it being deemed advisable not to cross until the fresher subsided and the safety of the bridge ascertained.

St. Paul Road M. Burke, road master of the C. & N. W. division was in the city today on business.

The water was high in the ditches along the track between here and Mineral Point last evening but this morning it has gone down considerably. There was some fear of trouble, but danger for a while has disappeared.

Other News While lying down in front of his engine at Railroad Avenue and 12th street in Rockford, H. H. Broadie, an engineer in the employ of the North-Western, was struck, probably fatally, Friday last. It is said an Illinois Central train backed into his car. Broadie was shoved off the track.

Every railroad centering in Chicago is unable to supply cars to meet the demands of shippers. Freight of all kinds is moving in unusually large volume. Some of the Western roads have issued orders that under no circumstances shall any of their freight cars be allowed to go on the rails of other companies. This action is taken because of the refusal of the eastern lines to return Western cars, greatly preferring to pay per diem rental for them. If the boom in traffic continues all the roads will be forced to add to the big orders which have been given in the past three months for new engines and cars of all kinds.

REAL HAVANA FOR FIVE CENTS.

Smith Drug Co. at Last Find a Nickel Cigar Worth Smoking.

When Smith Drug Co., who probably have the largest sale for high grade cigars of any dealer in Janesville, heard that a long Havana filler cigar was being retailed for 5c, they were naturally incredulous. As they wanted to give their customers the best cigars for the least money they got a sample box of the Wadsworth Bros., Chicago.

The samples were all right and they ordered a trial 1,000 to see how they would please their trade. The result was wonderful, as men who had been buying ten and fifteen cent cigars said, they preferred the 5c. It is a good and satisfactory smoke with a clear Havana aroma.

Try a Chico today and you will enjoy it, if you like a good cigar.

WILLARD MERRILL AT POINT OF DEATH IN LOS ANGELES

Disquieting Advice Received Here Regarding Former Janesville Resident.

Willard Merrill, vice-president of the North-Western Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Milwaukee and former practicing attorney and partner of Judge Cassoday in Janesville, is at the point of death in Los Angeles according to private advices received here last evening.

BRAND NEW TYPE OF LOCOMOTIVES

Can Do Wonders on the Rail—A Revolution in Engine Building.

Three thousand miles without a stop, and at the rate of 100 miles an hour, is the capacity of a new type of locomotive which has been ordered by the Southern Pacific railroad. The locomotive, or really power-house on wheels, is entirely different from anything now in use. The cost of operating it will be less than one-half the cost of operating the present type of steam engine. Fuel oil costing but a few cents a gallon is the only fuel that has to be purchased and there is no necessity for erecting and maintaining expensive water tanks or coal chutes.

The machine is what is known as the four stroke cycle. There is a compressed air reservoir, from which the power is obtained for starting. This gives the piston its first stroke, when it takes in the air alone at atmospheric pressure and temperature. The second stroke compresses this air and raises it to a temperature of about 1,000 degrees Fahrenheit. The third stroke is what is known as the working stroke. The oil is sprayed into the hot air, the amount being regulated by governors. During the first part of this stroke the combustion of this oil is carried on at a constant pressure for a period that is regulated by the amount of oil sprayed. The second part of the stroke is practically an expansion, with transference of heat, and the fourth stroke exhausts the gases.

Loss of Sleep Means Loss of Mind.

Inability to Sleep is Nature's Plain Warning of an Exhausted Nervous System.

DR. A. W. CHASE'S NERVE PILLS.

When you overwork any muscle or set of muscles they tire and must have rest. What is true of muscle is doubly true of the brain, as from it emanates all power to work, to act, to think. The brain is full of little cells that during the waking hours are never quiet in their efforts to furnish to every organ the power to do its duty. Rob these little cells of their rest at night—keep them at work all the time, and soon they tire, refuse to act, fail to generate nerve force and the system goes to ruin. Bromides, sedatives, opiates only hasten the end—they do not build up, they carry down. The true remedy the only cure lies in Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills, a medicine that revitalizes, reinvigorates, and by properly nourishing these overworked little cells, give them rest and quiet and enables one to sleep naturally and easily again.

Mrs. Fred Wholeben of Glade Run, Warren, Pa., Says:

"I was induced to use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Pills for excessive nervousness. I was so nervous I could not bear a noise or much talking. I was very forgetful—my mind seemed dull. I was listless and tired all the time. The result of the use of the box I got was remarkable. They toned up the nerves and system generally and I work well again. I am strong—my mind is clear and noise and talk no longer bother me. I am much pleased with the pills and can recommend them highly to anyone who feels as I did." 50 cents a box at dealers or Dr. A. W. Chase, Medical Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M. D., are on every package.

EUROPE AND THE WAR.

There was much food for thought in the references which London Correspondents made on Sunday to the influence and possible effect of the Manchurian war upon European relations and upon the various balances of power in that continent. It is an Asian war, and has to do directly with only Asian affairs. But one of the parties to it is also a great European power, intimately associated with three major sets of influences and interests in Europe, and so, of course, whatever effect the war may have upon its status and prestige will inevitably react upon its European relationships. Now, Russia is the open ally of France, she is the unwavering ally of Germany and she has long posed as the ultimate arbiter of the very complex problems of Southeastern Europe, from the Carpathians to the Pindus and from the Inn to Moldau to the Dardanelles. What will be the effect of her defeat in this war, if she is finally defeated, upon those interests?

So far as two are concerned, the results are already apparent. The London correspondents judiciously sees an indication of them in the German Emperor's unexampled overture for an armistice with France. The Paris correspondents sees another in the popular revulsion against Russia which prevails in France. For days past other dispatches have told of the difficulty, if not impossibility, of Russia's borrowing any more money in either France or Germany. Obviously, then, the defeat of Russia by Japan will mean that neither of those powers will care longer to cultivate her alliance, and she will be left to stand alone, a negligible quantity. The same may be said in respect to the southeastern problems. It will be to Vienna and Berlin, rather than to St. Petersburg, that the Balkan States will look for aid, for admonitions and for encouragement; and when the remorseless processes of time bring about the inevitable crisis in Austro-Hungarian affairs, the voice of Berlin will be more potent than that of Moscow in declaring the disposition of the disintegrating realm.

This danger of partial, if not complete, elimination from the European council may well be one of Russia's gravest considerations. A European power beaten by an Asian could scarcely maintain its old prestige in Europe. Almost the only way in which it could hope to do so would be through the conclusion of peace before the utter collapse, and then the concentration of all its energies upon a strengthening of its purely European interests. We can imagine Russia's adoption of that course. If she should now make peace with Japan, abandon her visions of universal dominion in Asia and concentrate all her efforts upon the enlightenment, liberalization and general improvement of her European domain, she might not only save but greatly strengthen her position as a European power. But persistence in a war of such disasters as those at Port Arthur and Mukden might consign her to the category of powers that were, but are not.

MATHESON FOR MAYOR.

The republicans have nominated Alexander Matheson for mayor and now every republican in the city should step to the front and do all he can individually to elect him. Mr. Matheson stands for a good business administration of city affairs. He has shown in his two years in the council that he can attend to the finances of the city in an able and conscientious manner and his election as mayor will be merely a continuation of his methods. Mr. Matheson is alive to the best interests of Janesville. He is alive to the promotion and welfare of the city. He understands thoroughly the existing conditions of the city's finances and is not bound to any clique of business interests. Mr. Matheson was just to all and his dealings with his constituents while an alderman is beyond reproach. A man fitted for the position he would make a most excellent mayor. Matheson for mayor should be the slogan of the business men and property owners of Janesville who look for the city's best interests.

Attention of the city fathers is respectfully called to the shocking condition of the streets this spring. It is not the fault of the street superintendent but lies directly with the council who should make appropriations for such purposes. Mud holes wounded do in a country village but in a city making the pretenses that Janesville is they should not be permitted.

Milwaukee has the usual grist of bills in far consideration this winter and the legislature is busy a good share of its time straightening out their tangles.

Missouri settled their dispute by electing a former resident of Wisconsin United States senator. They could not have gone to a better state to find their candidate.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West divorce case is now exhibiting in Sheridan, Wyoming and playing to capacity houses.

Delaware has abolished the pillory. Perhaps the lawmakers decided the old device has been kept up long enough.

From present accounts the legislature will not get through their work until some time next summer.

Japan will demand all the rights of a conqueror and there is no question that it deserves them.

Poland is making a feeble attempt to bring to life the great Polish empire. Very feeble though.

There is a general impression that Russia has received a bad whipping somewhere in the east.

The best product is that of well paid, contented workmen under congenial conditions and in cheerful surroundings.

Clothcraft Clothes are made in a model plant. There is light, air and every modern improvement.

There are separate dining rooms for men and women and hot tea and coffee are served each meal.

The toilet and dressing rooms are bright, attractive and amply large.

No philanthropy about it—just business. The Clothcrafters want the best work in the world in Clothcraft Clothes and that means that the best workers must make them. They want their people to be comfortable and in good health for their mutual good.

Every Clothcraft garment is made in the Clothcraft Plant. Nothing is "farmed out." Clothcraft quality cannot be produced by the sweat-shop method.

Clothcraft has a dozen distinct features not found in any other ready-for-service clothing and the big feature is that all the cloth used is wool, all wool and nothing but wool. And this is true of no other line on earth.

The Iron Mountain Route to Hot Springs, Ark.

A ROSE OF NORMANDY

By WILLIAM R. A. WILSON

CHAPTER XIV.
IN WHICH A TRAP IS SPRUNG, BUT THE MOUSE ESCAPES.

The days passed rapidly. La Salle and Tonty were busily engaged with preparations for their departure. Among the 30 men the explorer had brought with him he chose one, La Motte by name, as his chief lieutenant under Tonty. The stores of iron and cordage for the vessel he intended building on the great lakes, the beads, scarlet cloths, hatchets, knives, and other presents for the Indians, the powder and bullets for the use of the entire party—all were carefully packed into the smallest compass possible, ready to be loaded into the canoes.

Pompon, still incognito, was here and there and everywhere, saying little and hearing much. Through his activity it was learned that the priest who offered to accompany the expedition was instructed to do so by Laval. His offer was refused, and the services of the Recollet friar, Father Louis Hennepin, who had come all the way from Fort Frontenac to meet La Salle, was chosen. The latter had brought a letter from his provincial, Father Le Fevre, containing permission to join the expedition. To prepare himself, the worthy friar went into retreat at the Recollet convent, remaining for several days in prayer and meditation. Finally, after dining at the Chateau with Frontenac, La Salle and Tonty, and after a farewell vigil, he received the blessing of Laval and departed at daybreak. His friends watched his figure with its sandaled feet, coarse gray capote, and peaked hood, the cord of St. Francis hanging at his side, glide away in his birch canoe, paddled by two men, en route for Port Frontenac, where they were to await the arrival of the others. Within a week La Motte and most of the men followed, with 12 well-laden canoes.

The bulk of the work of preparation being thus over, Tonty had ample time to renew his acquaintance with Madame Bizard. She had made one effort toward influencing him against La Salle, but had been so coldly repulsed that she began to doubt her ability to bias him directly against his friend and leader. The difficulty of the task, however, only added zest to her endeavors, so that she redoubled her attempts. They met daily, seemingly by chance, often taking long walks together up the hill beyond the windmill, or to the other extremity of the town under pretext of viewing the cathedral, the seminary, Hotel Dieu, or the palace of the intendant. On these strolls she piled her coquettish arts in vain. Tonty parried each thrust with as much skill as though it had been a combat with swords instead of a duel of intrigue.

Madame Bizard had long tired of the humdrum life of the town and the practical straightforwardness of her matter-of-fact husband, who, taken up with the monotonous duties of his calling, had but little time or taste for the frivolities of the social world, such as it was. He had every confidence, however, in his mate, giving her full liberty, believing that in time she would settle down to the serious obligations appertaining to the wife of a soldier at a frontier post.

The easy grace of the high-spirited gallant who had so suddenly appeared in her life, flattering her vanity, with its mingled audacious banter and deferring humility, casting over all the glamour of the grand monde, finally won her silly little heart. It was with genuine alarm and dread, therefore, that she viewed the growing preparations that were to end in their separation, and she increased her efforts at fascination now that she had what she believed to be her own passion for the man to urge her on as well as the commands of the intendant. She met with ill success despite her endeavors, and daily and hourly chafed at the thought of his obduracy or cried her vexation at her failure and the thought of losing him.

Frontenac was in high feather as the result of La Salle's success in gaining over some of the fur-traders into forming an association and advancing money. He entertained them all right royally for several nights, and then resolved to give a ball in honor of his friends the evening before their departure, partly to maintain his dignity as governor and give his mimic court a taste of the gaiety of Versailles, and partly to show his defiance to his enemies.

Enemies and friends alike were invited, for few of the former would dare absent themselves, although the magnificence of the occasion would afford a means of Frontenac's triumphing over them, winning still further the favor of the people who dearly loved to behold any manifestations of royalty and grandeur.

The space in front of the chateau was brilliantly lighted by a large bonfire, kept burning by a group of servants, who heaped on large quantities of brushwood. At the entrance two huge torches of pine knots flamed, above the heads of a dozen soldiers, drawn up in a line before the door. Within, all was light and merriment.

Frontenac walked among his guests with a smiling countenance and fine presence. His humor was jovial, and he showed no signs of irritation. He heard with inward satisfaction the exclamations of pleasure from the women, and saw with secret delight the glances of disgust and ill-concealed chagrin on the part of Duchesneau and his coterie.

La Salle for the last time was the same court dandy as when Tonty saw him first. Tonty himself bowed and smiled to everyone, and was a universal favorite. He danced several times with Madame Bizard, and noticed that she seemed preoccupied and sad. After losing sight of her for an hour he found her again. This time she seemed to be laboring under some secret excitement. She complained of weariness, and suggested that instead of dancing they walk up and down the balcony that ran past one side of the room. Tonty assented, and, after throwing a wrap about his companion's shoulders, passed with her through one of the open windows. The first turn was made in silence. Then as they stopped a moment and looked out over the Lower Town at their feet, the woman spoke low and indistinctly: "And so you are going to leave tomorrow. Are you glad?"

"Ma foi! yes," was the frank answer. "To-morrow begins the work I have set out to do. I hasten toward it."

"And is there nothing in a man's life beside his work?" came in pettish tones from the depths of the hood beside him.

"Ah, yes, Cielot!" he replied, with a spark of mischief in his eye. "There is honor, and one other—love." The feminine figure gave a little start at this, and, drawing nearer, waited for him to continue.

"Yes, a man's love comes next to his honor. I shall therefore have feelings of regret as well as leaving civilization and friends behind, and shall begrudge each westward step that takes me further from the desire of my heart, the joy of my dreams," and unnoticed by his friend, he looked in the direction of the ocean and blew a kiss toward France, that the wind caught up and carried off far into the night.

"You know, then, what it is to love?" came to his ear in soft, caressing tones. "To love, ah! that it is to live," pursued Tonty, as he dreamily watched a spark rise from a chimney, mount high upon the wings of the breeze, and then die slowly out. "Yes, it is the wine of life, that gives one strength and purpose; the bread of the heart's existence. What other food is there that does not moulder and decay? The very air, the only air upon which the soul can subsist, for are not all else but noxious vapors and unwholesome fumes?"

The woman's blood surged to her temples and blinded her eyes in a red-dening flash; she reeled unsteadily a moment; her breath came in unconscious, noiseless gasps. The end she had labored for in vain seemed suddenly to burst in sight; she had but to reach forth and grasp it. One desperate effort and it would be hers. "Ah! Henri, my love," she murmured, as she nestled closer with her head upon his breast, "why did you not tell me sooner! I could have arranged it all. But it is not too late." Then turning up her face, she spoke rapidly and with impetuous earnestness. "Come, give up your plans for the morrow; leave the danger and exposure and the glory if you will for others; let them be lost in the wilderness, but do you remain, for I love you, love you, love you! Live with me to-night. I have a canoe and well-paid servants awaiting us. An hour's time will see us half-way to Beauport. Near by is a seignior's held by a friend of the intendant's. I have done much for Duchesneau, he will do much for me. I have a letter from him here," she tapped her bosom—"that will gain for us the protection needed. We can stay at this seignior's until La Salle has started and the storm is over. The intendant will give us a large grant of land—he will help us—I have saved some little money. Come, mon cher, with me; there is still time," and at the end of this passionate outburst she seized Tonty by one hand and with the other caressed his cheek.

The young man heard the woman's voice, but comprehended not at first the meaning of her speech. His first words, uttered as they were in a moment of mischievous gallantry, had brought to his mind the truth that he was about to take a plunge that would separate him from all that would recall the favor of the people who dearly loved to behold any manifestations of royalty and grandeur.

The words that fell upon his ear met with a slumbering comprehension, but the touch aroused him. The contact of the fevered hand seemed to burn him, seemed a profanation of the thoughts of the reverie he had fallen into.

He was awakened in an instant; the full meaning of the woman's accents flashed over him. He realized that in the playing of his part he had gone too far. He started back a step. "Mon Dieu! flee with you!" he exclaimed in astonishment. "Contentment; now, at once. Ah! Mon Henri, do not keep me waiting—" "But your husband—" he ejaculated. "Bah! that fool, dunce, booby!" she cried in contempt, as she stamped her foot angrily. "He can console himself out of the next shipload of girls. That is the sort of wife that would suit him best, the blockhead. Why should we care for him? We love—"

Tonty seized her roughly by the shoulder and gazed into her face, illuminated by a ray of light from the window. The woman's lack of principle appealed less to his anger than did the realization of the fateful consequences to himself had the vile plot succeeded, the full details of which from the day he arrived to the present moment flashed clear and distinct through his mind.

"Woman," he cried in a hoarse, strident tone, as he sought vainly to control himself, "did I not say that there was one thing stronger of all in a man's life—honor? Stronger than love itself, love, true love I mean, not the polluted thing you so falsely offer me? Did you think I would be false to my comrade or my love? (Dieu me pardonne for speaking her name in the presence of such as you.) Did you suppose I was blind to your miserable conspiracy to trap me, you and your master Duchesneau? Per Dieu! were you but a man I would know how to revenge this insult to my honor and to my intelligence."

The woman stared at him for a moment, petrified by astonishment, trembling with mortification, rage, and despair in quick succession. A shadow fell across her face: it was that of Tonty disappearing through the window. She was alone.

68 Years Old,
Took "Seven Barks"
Feels Like A Different
Man—No Kidney Trouble Now.

The following is a letter we received on June 27, 1904, from Conrad Slagle, of Burrows, Ind.: "It is with great pleasure I let you know what your Seven Barks have done for me. For a long time I was in a bad fix with my back and kidneys and other troubles, and tried many doctors and various medicines, but got no relief. Since I have been taking your Seven Barks I feel like a different man. I am sixty-eight years old and can say that I have never taken anything that has done so much good in so short a time as your Seven Barks."

It is much harder to cure Kidney trouble in old age and of long standing than in youth. As a man ages, his bones lose their suppleness, you who suffer with aching back know the effects of weak kidneys; you know, too, the sharp, darting pains that seem as if they would tear you to pieces. This man, like you, was in a bad fix, but Seven Barks got him out of it, and it didn't take long either. Which had you rather do, suffer with Kidney trouble or deposit so cents with us for a full-sized bottle of Seven Barks—the money to be refunded if Seven Barks doesn't cure? We don't know of a better remedy, and "finding out" is our business.

Tumors Conquered Without Operations

Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in Cases of Mrs. Fox and Miss Adams.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy, Tumor.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by excessive menstruation accompanied by unusual pain extending from the ovaries down the groin and thighs. If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation, ulceration or displacement, don't wait for time to confirm your fears and go through the horrors of a hospital operation; secure Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use and write Mrs. Pinkham of Lynn, Mass., for advice.

Read these strong letters from grateful women who have been cured:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(First Letter.) "In looking over your book I see that your medicine cures Tumor of the Uterus. I have been a doctor and he tells me I have a tumor. I will be more than grateful if you can help me, as I do so dread an operation."

—Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut St., Bradford, Pa.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—(Second Letter.) "I take the liberty to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine."

"Eighteen months ago my monthly stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician, and was told that I had a tumor on the uterus and would have to undergo an operation."

"I soon after read one of your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles as directed, the tumor is entirely gone. I have again been examined."

Janesville, with electricity for a term of five years from the 10th day of July, 1905.

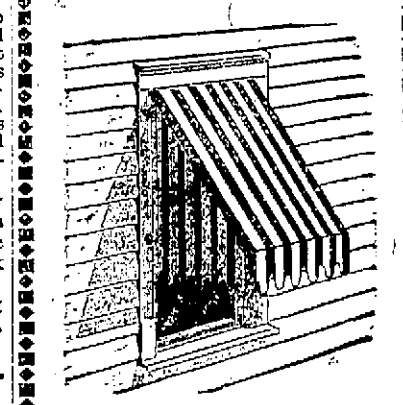

All lamps for lighting the streets, alleys and public grounds shall be not less than 1200 standard candlepower, to be lighted from one-half hour after sundown to one-half hour before sunrise every night during said term, and to be suspended over the center of said streets, alleys and public grounds at such points as may be selected by said city. Bidders must submit prices for furnishing 100, 150 and 200 lamps and also prices for each additional lamp as may be required from time to time. All proposals shall state therein the name of the lamps to be used, the candlepower, whether direct or alternating current, and the amperes and voltage at which it is proposed to maintain the same. Each bidder shall also include in such proposal prices for furnishing sufficient electric current to properly light the incandescent lamps now in use in the city hall, three fire-engine houses, together with current for a ceiling fan in the common council chambers and the fire alarm telegraph in the city hall. The city reserves the right at all times to examine the dynamo, lamps and other equipment used by the successful bidder for the purpose of ascertaining whether the contract entered into is being complied with, and to make reasonable deductions for any failure to furnish the lights or power required by said contract. Proposals must be accompanied by a certified check for $3000, made payable to the treasurer of said city, and to be forfeited if the bidder fails to enter into a contract in accordance with this notice and such proposal, within ten days after being notified of the acceptance of such proposal, and to provide a bond for said amount, in case the common council shall deem it necessary, to secure the faithful performance of said contract. The right is reserved to reject any and all bids.

By order of the common council.
